Pony Pulling Contest Feature Event Of Porterville Fair In May

PORTEVILLE - A pony pulling contest that may draw teams from throughout the San Joaquin valley has been set up as a feature of the 1967 Porterville fair, May 18, 19 and 20; Ray Longley, of Porterville, is in charge of arrangements.

The contest has been scheduled for Saturday, May 20, in front of the fair's grandstand; the event will get underway about 6 p.m. and will be concluded before opening of the night professional show at 8:15 p.m.

Since the handicapping of pulling teams is based on weight of animals in relation to weight of load pulled, three judges of great capability have been asked to work the contest: Richard Chamberlain, Ph. D. from Porterville high school; Clyde Wilcoxon, M. A., mathematics instructor from Porterville college; and Tim Larson, M. A., physics instructor at the college.

Pony pulling was introduced to the Porterville fair last year on a more - or - less exhibition basis. Because of its entertainment value and its fine reception by fair goers, decision was made by directors to expand the event this year.

As a result of scheduling pony pulling on the final night of the fair, the traditional concert by the Porterville High School Panther band has been moved up to Friday evening.

BAKERSFIELD CLUB TO SALUTE PORTERVILLE

BAKERSFIELD - A salute to Porterville will be given by the Bakersfield Trade club at March meeting of the club in the Bakersfield Civic auditorium the evening of March 15, starting at 6 p.m.

"Community leaders" of Porterville have been invited to attend the event, at which some 700 business men of metropolitan Bakersfield will be present.

PORTEVILLE ACED OUT OF HIGHWAY DEVELOPMENT; WAIT FOR AWHILE AGAIN SAY THE POWERS THAT BE

PORTEVILLE - The Porterville area, and southeastern Tulare county has again been aced out of promised and scheduled highway development, as the state highway people have said, "Wait awhile longer. We said we were going to do something, but wait awhile."

Specifically, the improvement and realignment of highway 65 between White River and Elmco has been delayed until June. It had, for some time, been scheduled for February of 1967.

But now there is some problem about the railroad bridge south of Ducor at White River - a problem involving type of construction.

From the standpoint of a layman, it would appear that this problem could have been worked out a long time ago, since it was evident that the highway would be rerouted when the state constructed the fine highway between White River and highway 99 north of Bakersfield, and constructed the equally excellent highway through Porterville between Elmco and Lindsay.

In fact the general plan for improvement of highway 65 has been pending for 10 or 15 years. Meanwhile, several million bucks have been spent in other areas

Property Assessments In The Mail

VISALIA - Property valuation statements started going into the mail yesterday, according to reports from the office of the Tulare County assessor, and property owners are advised that particular attention should be paid to the statements, since a new law, Assembly Bill 80, requires that county assessors place drastic penalties if property owners do not comply with the law.

A release from the office of the county assessor says, "The property owner should be sure that he makes his return for each parcel of property as it existed on March 6, 1967. A.P.N. numbers on last

CITY COUNCIL RACE BEGINS TO HEAT UP

PORTEVILLE - Campaign for two vacancies on the Porterville city council has, to date, been quiet, but indications are that things will heat up as five contenders start working toward the April 4 election date.

In the race are: Ross Boyd, property developer; Dr. Dick Spencer, optometrist; James H. Hanson, travel agency owner; Pete Ferguson, cemetery district manager; and Gil Ynigues, flower shop owner.

The candidates will speak at a noon luncheon meeting of the Porterville Exchange club today, and will appear again at a public dinner meeting of the Porterville Area Republican Assembly at the Paul Bunyan, 6:30 p.m., March 7.

Completing two terms on the Porterville city council are Mayor Aubrey M. Lumley and former mayor,

ELEGANT JUNK ANTIQUE ITEMS TO BE OFFERED

PORTEVILLE - Elegant junk and antique items will be offered at a rummage sale to be sponsored Saturday by the Porterville Breakfast Lions' club as a benefit for the building fund of the Porterville Sheltered Workshop.

The sale will open at 8 a.m., March 4, in the Marty building at 129 N. D street, site of the former temporary location of the Porterville postoffice.

Breakfast Lions, headed by President Hank Brovelli, invite everyone to "come early and stock up with bargains galore."

"GET TO work, Walt!" That's what Mrs. John Hawthorne is telling Walt Sommer as they get ready for the annual Woodville chamber of commerce banquet next Saturday evening at the

Big Doins At Woodville Saturday As Chamber Presents Annual Banquet

WOODVILLE - There'll be big doins in Woodville Saturday night as the chamber of commerce presents its 29th annual banquet in the Woodville Elementary School cafeteria. Serving will start at 7:30 p.m.; theme will be "Hard Times."

Mrs. John Hawthorne is in charge of the traditional fried chicken dinner that will be served family style; Walt Sommer and Roscoe Honeycutt will head up the serving and waiters committee; Mrs. John Monroe and Mrs. Gerry Regan are in charge of decorations; and Mrs. Homer Smartt has booked entertainment for the evening.

A dance in the Civic hall, to the music of the Bill Harrison band will follow the banquet, with Mr. and Mrs. Irving Adams in charge; tickets are being handled by Jack Ashworth and Mrs. Hugh Monroe, who state that persons who have not yet purchased tickets can contact them.

A popular innovation of the Woodville banquet is being maintained this year - no formal speaker. Program will feature the Fisher Sisters; the Junior Group - Karen Eisner, Judi Halbert, Jackie Dill, Rachel Keeler, Cheryl Kindroos, Cathy Speaks and Cheryl Taylor; and on of the stars of the recent City of Hope Spectacular in Porterville - Juney Fisher.

Adding to the fun of the evening will be the awarding of a number of door prizes, and it is just possible there will be some plain and fancy conversation between guests from Porterville and from Tulare.

Official welcome will be extended by Robert Fleisher, outgoing president; invocation will be EXPANDING RAPIDLY, and being featured in several national trade publications, is the Porterville Agri-Business center at Freeway 65 and Tea Pot Dome avenue. The center, developed by Dudley Pearson, is possibly the first such centralization of agri-business onto one location in the country; it now includes Pearson Pump and Drilling; Hastings Equipment company; a Shell Service station; and Coberly and Plumb.

As indicated by the photo, site is in the center of a farming area, with citrus orchards at lower left and at top right; white capped vegetable plantings also are top right and center; and vineyards and row crops are grown in the immediate vicinity. Plans call for future construction to house agri-business enterprises.

Editorial Comment

THE KIDDIES' CRUSADE

Historians generally credit Stephen of Cloves, a visionary French peasant boy, with dreaming up the first Children's Crusade in 1212. There's no question who master minded the recent Kiddies' Crusade to Sacramento to heckle Governor Reagan and his proposal for fiscal realism. It was the California Federation of Teachers. That AFL-CIO trade union's hip parade didn't sell any children into slavery, as did Stephen's tragic crusade, but it did sell academic maturity down the river.

In dismal contrast to the orderly gathering of some 3000 University of California students several days earlier, the CFT happening was a mishmash of slovenly beat techniques. It did no service to those who sincerely question the wisdom of budget cuts and tuition for state schools, nor could it have impressed the parents and the other taxpayers whose money is at stake.

Such "grandstanding attempts to settle the educational finance crisis through demonstrations, picketing, strike threats, or marches on the Capitol" were promptly decried by the California Teachers Association, the professional organization representing the vast majority of the state's dedicated teachers.

Speaking for the CTA, executive secretary Jack Rees pointed out that "those eager to defy public sentiment in order to win attention to themselves are interfering with concerted efforts to solve the real problem." The CTA has proposed well-considered measures for improving the quality of education at all levels while reducing the school property tax burden. It is justifiably concerned about the disruptive effect such demonstrations as the teacher union's Kiddie Crusade will have on "the efforts of responsible organizations and legislators seeking real solutions to the state's fiscal problems."

Dear Mr. Rodgers:

As you know, the 1967 fund campaign of the Porterville chapter of the American Red Cross will get under way this week, and I, as chairman of the chapter and director of the drive, wish to thank you, in advance, for your efforts in making this campaign a success.

The board feels that this community needs no reminder of the help that Red Cross gives in times of stress. Residents need only to recall the floods of December. However, we should like to point to the aid that our organization is giving to families who have men involved in the Vietnam war. We hope that in your "Letters to the Editor" column, you might publish this letter from a mother of a Navy man, who is serving his country in Vietnamese waters. We have secured her permission for its publication. It follows:

"To the Porterville Red Cross chapter - Dear Mrs. Curtis: No words could ever fully express my deepest appreciation, not only to the American Red Cross, but also to you for your untiring efforts in locating our son, making it possible that he arrived home an hour and a half before his father's funeral.

Bob Mathias Introduces Legislation To Regulate Dairy Products Imports

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Congressman Bob Mathias (R-18th) has introduced legislation which would regulate the importing of foreign milk and dairy products to the United States. The proposed act has been cited as the "Dairy Import Act of 1967", and referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

"This bill," Mathias said, "would prevent serious impairment of our dairy industry which is being damaged by the unrealistic and impractical standards of trade applied to the industry."

"Most important, the new bill would put an end to the subterfuge and evasion practiced under the present inadequate import controls."

"With the enactment of the Dairy Import Act of 1967" a definite and known level of imports would be established to which the market could adjust and on which our own farmers and foreign countries could make sound future plans."

Specifically defined dairy imports have been limited since 1953 by authority of Section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1935, however there is no limitation on variations of these products.

ucts which are brought into the United States.

Citing an example of the 'invasion by evasion', Mathias said, "Importation of butterfat for the ice cream market perhaps has been the most flagrant violation of our import control law. Butterfat, in ever increasing volumes, is being imported as frozen cream, butter oil and mixtures of butterfat and sugar."

Under the bill introduced by Mathias, all dairy imports would be subject to limitation. The Secretary of Agriculture would be authorized to permit entry of dairy products for any year in amounts totaling not more than the average annual imports during the five calendar years from 1961 to 1965.

"There would be no circumvention of the import quotas. Once the quotas were reached, the door would be closed to any article of commerce containing any significant amount of butterfat, solid non-fat, or any combination of the two."

In 81 schools across the nation, 10,000 children were served breakfast during January in a USDA, two-year pilot program.

We Only Heard

BY BILL RODGERS

AL HILTON, Porterville citrus grower, is not only one of the world's fine color photographers, he also busts into print every now and then. His Christmas story, "Nature's Holiday" that appeared in The Farm Tribune in December of 1965 was reprinted in the magazines, "New Zealand Camera," and "Golden," in December of 1966.

PORTEVILLE'S BREAKFAST Lions, who went on the hook financially to complete construction of the new Sheltered Workshop building, will be looking for ways and means to pay off, first of which is a Rummage Sale in the Marty building on D street, Saturday. The Lions say it is not just an ordinary rummage sale, but rather, a sale of "elegant junk." That ought to be a winner, particularly if the wives work hard enough.

BILL ALEXANDER tells us that in spite of the December flood, a good water year is not yet assured. Basing his projections pretty much on figures from the Huntington Lake station, Bill says that actually the water situation is about the same now as it was last year at this time - a year that finally developed into only a 23 per cent class 2 water year. Bureau of Reclamation predicted an 80 per cent or better Class 2 year a month ago, but in February there has been little precipitation, which will no doubt cut the Bureau's estimate when it comes out in March. In order for a real good water year to develop - say an 80-100 per cent year for class 2 water, the high country must get at least 13 more inches of moisture - snow or rain - before summer sets in ... We're for that, but let's not have it all on Springville rodeo days... Incidentally, Bill is still on the State Water Rights board, and we hope Governor Ronald Reagan sees fit to leave him there.

THEN THERE'S the parent who let it be known long and loud, up and down the coffee counter, that he could never afford to send his son to college if tuition is charged ... But he managed to buy the boy a 1966 car just the other day. ... Somehow or other we can't get the idea out of our head that any boy - or girl - who is smart enough to be able to profit from college or university should also be smart enough to earn money to attend, if they really want to attend.

RAY LONGLEY tells us that a friend of his, J. T. Axon, who is in charge of Dupont sales in Europe, sent him the Dupont magazine, from Switzerland that carried a story on the Porterville Municipal airport ... Word does get around.

ESTATE OF the late Charles E. Saak paid out $36,482.16 during the year of 1966 for benefit of underprivileged children from the Porterville and Poplar areas, with this money going for medical expenses, hospital bills, dental care, eye operations, support and maintenance of students in school, tuition, school supplies and such items. The estate has assets in trust amounting to some $640,000, with a net income that now amounts to around $25,000 annually. Because the fund was not widely known and was unused for several years after it was set up, there is an accumulation of spendable money, but applications are now coming in faster than money is available... Mr. Saak, a native of and life-long farmer in the Poplar area, was quite specific in what he wanted done with the trust - he wanted to help underprivileged boys and girls of his community, individual boys and girls, and the trust sets up a plainly written procedure for determining eligibility. ... Yet it is somewhat amazing, and perhaps a discouraging commentary on the human race, to see the efforts that are made by public agencies to get their hooks into a chunk of this fund... Fortunately, they have been unsuccessful to date.

Playing the key role of the mother, Amanda, is Virginia Haydu, of Exeter; her stage son will be Robert Scott; as the gentleman caller, Gary Dunn returns to the college stage after a year's absence; and Kay Gillett, a newcomer to the stage, debuts as Laura, the sister whose future looms pathetically throughout the play.

The play is directed by John Holden, assisted by John Lawson, technical adviser. Glenn Edwards is stage manager, and Linda Jones heads the costume crew.

Performance is at 8:15, Friday and Saturday for two weekends. Tickets are at $1 for non-students, 75¢ for students.

OUR TOWN

By Ruth Loyd

Gary and Linda are finally going to have a vacation. The Sahara Tahoe, yet. Linda is a ski novice, but she looks like a doll in her burgundy ski outfit. So who cares about skiing anyway. Gary and Linda White own the White Horse Inn above Three Rivers. They bought the Morro Rock Tavern from Willie Clay, and gave it a new face. The gourmet set, of OUR TOWN, like to take the lovely drive and enjoy the food at the Inn. While they are taking to the slopes, Gary's father, Loyal White, is leaving his own restaurant, My Old Kentucky Home in Monrovia, and will watch out for the White interests while the kids are away.

The little man who runs this newspaper has another suggestion for me. Now he wants me to go on the Jackass Mail Run. He didn't go so far as to suggest how I got there. He didn't offer me an animal of any kind. Not even a lift on the mail wagon. The last time I was on a horse was on a pack trip, and Owen Rutherford gave me a bad time. Owen is an expert at giving advice to poor little old ladies on horse back. Sooo if Bill wants to read some choice copy about the Jackass Mail, he will have to dig up a loose Percheron somewhere.

Are you sure you have the little blue sticker on the correct corner of your license? My better half put ours on, so I know it's on the right corner.

Does anyone know what the big white crosses are on the roads everywhere? I must ask Dave Rambo, he always knows about things like that. They are painted across the white lines, and I can't decide what they are for.

Carl Lindgren and a lovely young lady were having dinner at Rosso's the other night. Linda Lindgren is in Guam with her husband, and they are taking all kinds of exciting side trips to the Philippine Islands, Japan and Hong Kong. The good looking Lindgren youngsters really get around.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF TULARE DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. MULES RUN AWAY; WAGON BUSTED; PACK FALLS IN STREET; BUT IT'S JUST PART OF LIFE IN OLD WEST

WHISKEY FLAT - Porterville's Jackass Mail contingent, representing the Porterville chamber of commerce in the Whiskey Flat parade, Saturday, experienced a routine trek, except the mules ran away, the wagon got busted up, the pack fell off a mule in the middle of the parade, and various and sundry characters performed like various and sundry characters.

Original plan was to have a fine wagon, drawn by a team of mules and populated by assorted characters, proclaim the virtues of the Jackass Mail run on April 1, said wagon to serve as a stage, following the parade, from which to sell solid gold nuggets to any sucker who happened to be among those present.

Larry Gill acquired a fine old wagon, spent a day and a half building a new bed on it, in fact, with assistance from Doc Small, worked until nearly midnight last Thursday getting it ready.

On Friday the mules were hitched to the wagon and, with Henderson Duran serving as skinner, were paraded up and down a lane on the Gill ranch north of Porterville. Things were going great until Larry's horse spooked, which in turn spooked the mules, which took off for the distant hills, tearing out a section of fence and busting the front end of the wagon beyond immediate repair.

Finding themselves without wagon or team, the intrepid frontiersmen of the Jackass Mail assembled at 5 a.m. Saturday, intent on a new plan of action - bring a few riders and a pack mule loaded with gold nuggets down the line of the Whiskey Flat parade.

With the old man of the mountain himself - Walt Pratt - hiring on as packer, the contingent managed to reach Whiskey Flat. Walt wrapped 800 feet of rope around the mule, put an assortment of items on top of the pack - shovels, deer horns, canteens, pots and pans - and allowed as how that pack would ride to China and back.

About 200 yards down the parade route, the pack fell off. Pratt managed to keep his feet when he got off Old Blue, but a bottle of linament kept falling out of his pocket as he attempted to tie the pack back on. Meanwhile the parade went by.

The Porterville delegation, however, in the due course of considerable time, was able to reassemble, after a fashion, and passed the judges stand in great style - but without winning a prize. The judging committee had gone home.

Just a short stone's throw beyond the stand, the pack fell off again, so the committee set up shop and started selling gold nuggets, with something less than sensational success.

But enough nuggets were traded for coin of the realm, that the committee was able to close up shop and reassemble at Ewings, leaving a good share of its Jackass Mail equipment in the streets of Whiskey Flat.

Such are the rigors of the trail in the old west.

So now, on to Springville with the Jackass Mail ... Committee meeting Thursday, tonight, 8 a.m., Mountain Lion saloon.

EASTER SEAL CAMPAIGN HAS DUAL PURPOSE

VISALIA - Dr. Wesley Price, chairman of the 1967 Easter Seal fund appeal which opened last week, has listed the drive's dual functions.

Dr. Price said the appeal will be directed toward: 1. Securing funds for bringing the best medical treatment, training and other direct services needed by Tulare county's many crippled children and adults.

2. Creating an awareness of the handicapped individual's abilities, and increasing understanding in the minds of all Tulare county residents of the needs and accomplishments of handicapped persons.

He said the community can help a crippled child or adult the most by accepting him as an individual, giving him a job he is trained for, and contributing to Easter Seals when they arrive.

The campaign that officially began February 20 will close Easter Sunday, March 26.

Would you believe such things as petunias, lantanas, chrysanthemums, dahlias, dwarf snapdragons, and marguerite daisies? If so you must also believe you are another year older and another spring season has about arrived. If you doubt this is possible just take hold of your shovel firmly, prepare a flower bed or two, and then see what the old bones answer.

This limbering up is good for you if not carried to excess. It will prepare you for the mail ride, fishing trips, summer vacations, or spring housecleaning. It will also get your yard in shape. This last is important because we have all this jazz we need to get rid of in order to support the government in a manner to which it has become accustomed.

Among the things we would like to peddle are shade trees, juniper bushes, numerous shrubs, a few fruit trees, some smelly weed oil, several seed packets with luscious pictures, and a jillion bottles of stuff guaranteed to perform wonders on your yard. All of these we dispense along with experienced advice gleaned from over a quarter of a century of learning by making gross errors.

We do make free delivery in the Porterville area each and every day and we deliver to Terra Bella each Friday. For those living two days by burro and one days rock scramble by hoof and nail away we deliver anytime. Call soon or come by on "E" Street North of Olive - Porterville.

Red Cross Solicitation Is Moving Well

POTTERVILLE — With March 1 the official opening date for the 1967 American Red Cross drive, workers in this area are well into their fund campaign, according to Mrs. W. D. Fowler, chapter chairman and director of the drive.

"Good response to an appeal for workers was received, and every district will be well canvassed," the director stated.

Charles W. Chenhall will head the advance letters committee, and Mrs. Clare Jordan has been added to the captains' list, directing the fund drive in the Springville area.

Residents may leave their contributions at Red Cross headquarters at 76 E. Oak, according to Mrs. Pearl Curtis, local chapter executive director.

RED TAPE, PAPER WORK, FINANCING IN MEDI-CAL PROGRAM WILL BE CHECKED BY DUFFY COMMITTEE

SACRAMENTO — The problems of red tape and increased paper work under California's medical care program (Medi-Cal) will be the subject of scrutiny by a State Assembly legislative committee. Assemblyman Gordon Duffy (R Hanford) has announced that the Assembly Public Health committee, of which he is chairman, will conduct the study.

Duffy said that he and other members of the Legislature have received numerous complaints about the administration of the program. In addition to red tape and extra paper work, these include slow payments for services which have been performed and difficulties in establishing eligibility.

"The problems," Duffy stated, "have been inherited from the Brown administration. Governor Reagan and Health and Welfare Administrator Spencer Williams, are taking all steps possible to increase the administrative efficiency of the program."

Duffy said he has held meetings with Williams, and there will be close cooperation between his

VALENTINE PARTY ENJOYED BY BURTON 4-H

BURTON — Members of the Burton 4-H club enjoyed a Valentine party at their regular February meeting, and conducted general business of the club.

Project reports were given by Neal Daybell, Beth, John and Peter Della; Bonnie Donally, Debbie and Anne Dulay; Diane Evans, Kimo Falconer, Marla and Shawn Fallert; Terry Gordon, Kathy Goucher, David Hawkins, Brenda Hunter, Debbie Jackson, Pamela, John, Carol, and Bonnie Johnson; and Pala Koger.

Carol Lombardi reported on plans for Heart Sunday; demonstration field day in Porterville was announced, with Andrea Mock, Dawn Tumbleton, Linda Ream, Nancy Taylor and Brenda Hunter participating; and Sam LaPresta reported on tentative plans for a skating party.

Co-chairmen of the club's Valentine party were Pamela John and Virginia Claborn; cookies were brought by Diane Barnhart, Carrie Baty, Sue Butler, Churchill, Becky Connelley, Jeanne Cox, Brigid Crane, Beth Della, Annie Dulary, Shawn Fallert, Kathy Goucher, Patty Lewis, Shirley Miner, Andrea Mock, Peggy O'Neal, Kathy Owen, Lynette Pratt, and Dawn Tumbleton.

On the clean-up committee were David Barnhart, Kevin Crane, David Hawkins and John Della.

Presiding at the meeting was Club President Carol Lombardi, Kathy Wilson led the flag salute; Kimo Falconer led the 4-H pledge.

committee and the agency in seeking solutions to these problems.

Duffy pointed out that the problems facing Medi-Cal are not just administrative in nature. One of the most important concerns the financial soundness of the program and the accuracy of the revenue and expenditure estimates which have been made. Duffy said in order to reach basic decisions about the program, the committee will need to be assured that the cost figures which have been presented to date are correct.

Duffy said the institution of this study by the Public Health committee represents a realization that Medi-Cal is basically a health and medical program. Although Medi-Cal was originally considered in the Social Welfare committee, its on-going problems are health problems and must be considered along with all the other health problems facing the state. This entire area is the responsibility of the Public Health committee.

Duffy listed other problems confronting Medi-Cal: the constitutionality of the use of a fiscal intermediary to administer the program; the possibility that many nursing homes may not be able to meet federal standards for the program; the fees and charges which providers of services receive; and the level of benefits which can be provided to the medically needy group.

Duffy emphasized that although the immediate concern of the committee will be the short range problems facing Medi-Cal, its primary concern will be the creation of a fully developed program. This will be in line with the committee's goal of developing long range programs and plans for meeting California's total health needs.

He invited anyone who has had specific problems with the present program to contact his Sacramento office.

Other awards were distributed to deserving FFA members and included the Bankers certificate which went to Gary Weisenberger; the Lincoln Arc Welding award and the Mechanics Foundation award also to young Weisenberger; the soil and water

HIGHWAY DEVELOPMENT

(Continued From Page 1) of Tulare county, while we the people in the southeastern county area have attended meetings and listened to promises.

And in another section of 65 highway, along the west edge of Porterville, the overpass at Henderson and reconstruction of the section of 65 between Olive avenue and a point north of Henderson, has been officially postponed for a year - or, we fear, longer.

This section of 65 is of particular importance because of construction of the new Monache high school, which will, without doubt, generate increasing traffic at Henderson and 65 - increasingly dangerous traffic.

City officials and school officials, after meetings with state highway officials dating back more than two years, had hoped that this section of highway 65, in the interest of general public safety and the safety of school children, would be taken care of by the time Monache high opened, or shortly thereafter.

Now, under state highway department plans, we the people can wait awhile longer.

Of course the state can give good reasons why the delay is necessary. But good reasons can always be given.

Facts of the case are that we do not get the needed highway construction, part of which had been firmly promised.

Perhaps the time to be polite has passed. Perhaps now is the time to get vociferous. Perhaps we have to be a bit on the mean side if we want results rather than promises.

Personal property should be shown once, and not duplicated. When a parcel of property is rented, it is necessary to show the first and last name of the tenant, his address and the type of personal property, if known, for example, furniture, farm equipment, livestock, etc.

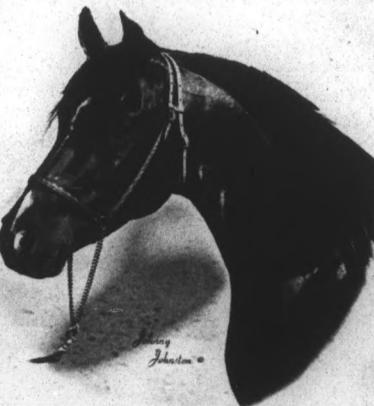

If assistance is needed, property owners can call at one of several offices in the county - in Porterville, at Third and Harrison; in Lindsay at the city hall; in Tulare at 125 South M street; or at the assessor's office in the county courthouse at Visalia.

Veteran affidavits for exemption, both inside and outside incorporated cities in Tulare county, must be filed with the office of the county assessor between the first Monday in March and the 15th day of April.

All questions must be answered on the exemption application form, and veterans are reminded that the affidavit is no longer a confidential document and that it can be examined by anyone.
